Saudi Move Impacts Only Slightly

A pledge by the world's largest producer to add 0.7% to world oil production has only a slight negative impact on the attractiveness of natural gas investment that we believe will be just temporary. Weighing the week's changes in prices of oil, natural gas and money, our calculated asset values drop 1% and our projected distributions for the next year, 3%. Currently among investments concentrated on long-life natural gas with low financial and management risk, Cross Timbers Royalty Trust ranks most undervalued followed by San Juan Basin Royalty Trust, Hugoton Royalty Trust and Dorchester Hugoton, Ltd. (see table). Instead of being concerned about how much current commodity prices may erode, we are more interested in how much of the recent gain will translate to increases in prices two, three and more years in the future. That process is only beginning, in our opinion.
